

Dear FCC:

XM Instant Traffic and Weather is the best source for traffic reports in the DFW metroplex. I typically drive 60-80 miles a day on one of the busiest routes in DFW. The only way for me to get to my job is to have the most up to date traffic information. As a tax paying American I should be able to obtain traffic reports by any legal means possible. Each month I pay XM Radio a monthly fee to enjoy these benefits, just like I pay my satellite provider for the benefits of satellite television. In my opinion, local broadcasting is not even in the same league as XM Radio, so they should not make the like comparison. I support XM in their and my campaign to keep XM Instant Traffic and Weather and all of the other exceptional programming. Maybe instead of trying to determine who delivers the best traffic in the metroplex, we should unify our efforts for better roadways and better public transportation. Then there might not be much traffic to report.

Respectfully Yours,
